

Random week at a glance...

- Mon: Discussion group – who decides that a law is necessary and why? Got pretty heated!
- Tues: ICT training: importing and editing images.
- Wed: Work experience at Stanley Junior, watching how kids play – solitary, parallel and co-operative.
- Thurs: Role play – we each took turns to be members of a care team.
- Fri: Shadowed lady who checks on health and safety for our work placements – two fire exits blocked.

The Edexcel Society, Health and Development Diploma

This qualification will give you a wide-ranging understanding of what it's like to work in the health, social and development sectors in the UK.

You'll learn practical skills as well as theory, and finish your Diploma with valuable knowledge of the workplaces, goals, job roles and responsibilities of professionals working in the following areas:

- Community justice
- Health
- Social care
- Children and young people.

Case studies will help you learn about real-life situations, showing how essential it is that social, health and development professionals work together to help individuals' families and communities.
