Functional Skills

Functional Skills are standalone qualifications offered by Edexcel as part of a national pilot running until summer 2010. They complement (and will eventually replace) the existing suite of skills for life qualifications and are a compulsory component of the new Diplomas from September 2008. Centres wishing to offer these qualifications should be registered on the Edexcel pilot. See the Functional Skills section of our website (www.edexcel.com) for details of how to do this.

We are currently developing a range of resources to support the pilot for English, ICT and Mathematics. Details of these resources can be found on the Functional Skills section of our website (www.edexcel.com).
